[REDACTED] asked me to brief [REDACTED] on the problem of employment of retired officers. [REDACTED] said he was retired with a 60% disability and that all his retired pay was tax free. I indicated that if employed in a civilian capacity, he would have to waive his entire retired pay and lose the tax benefits. [REDACTED] stated that if the civilian pay approximated his present income of $14,000.00, he would not worry about the tax loss which would amount to several hundred dollars. I stated that such a salary was possible, although it raised the problem of the number of super grades appointed by the Agency which was a matter for determination by the front office.
